U.S. Probation Officer Action:

On March 31, 2003, The Court sentenced Mr. McCullough to ninety-two months imprisonment followed by three years supervised release after having been charged with Possession of a Firearm by a Convicted Felon. On May 26, 2006, the sentence was amended and his sentence was reduced to sixty months imprisonment. He was released from the Bureau of Prisons on August 21, 2006 to commence his term of supervised release.

Mr. McCullough was compliant with supervision until April 14, 2007, when he was charged in Butler County, Ohio, with Burglary, Obstructing Official Business and Theft. The case has been continued until May 2, 2007. According to the police report, officers were investigating a call where shots were being fired in an apartment complex. McCullough was observed by officers standing in the hallway of the apartment building and matched the description of the shooter. Officers called to McCullough to come over to them, at which time he ran into the apartment and locked the door. Officers knocked on the door, but McCullough would not answer. Officers then entered through a window into the apartment and found McCullough exiting the bathroom. The resident of the apartment was contacted and stated she was at a bar and did not give McCullough permission to enter her apartment and denied knowing McCullough. Upon searching the apartment, officers found seven, 9 mm rounds of ammunition which were in the toilet as if someone attempted to flush the bullets. The officer's found the keys to the victims' apartment on McCullough.

McCullough was arrested and taken into custody. On April 16, 2007, McCullough appeared in Hamilton Municipal Court and was released on bond. The case has been continued until May 2, 2007.
